CIVIL SERVICE RETIREMENT ACT
PANAMA CANAL CONSTRUCTION ANNUITY ACT

U.S. GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE
WASHINGTON : 1964

CIVIL SERVICE RETIREMENT

Under Part III of the Postal Service and Federal Employees Salary Act of 1962, the Civil Service Retirement System became the first major staff retirement plan to tie automatic annuity increases to future upward adjustments in the cost of living.

The Act also provided for an initial cost-of-living adjustment in the annuities of already-retired persons. On May 17, 1963, an appropriation law providing funds for this increase was approved.

- Within the short span of 2 weeks, the job of computing, certifying, issuing, and mailing annuity increase checks to the more than 600,000 already-retired employees and survivor annuitants was completed.
- Round-the-clock operations on the Commission's electronic computer and unstinting cooperation of the Treasury Department's Washington Disbursing Office made completion of this job possible in so short a time.

This balance is not a surplus. The Commission estimates that, as of June 30, 1963, the unfunded accrued liability of the Civil Service Retirement System was $32,654 million. This figure does not include any amount for benefits provided by Part III of Public Law 87-793. If such benefits were considered, the figure given would be increased by $1,406 million. The estimated normal cost of the system is 12.28 percent of payroll, exclusive of Part III of Public Law 87-793, which, if considered, would increase this figure by 0.22 percent of payroll.

The foregoing figures reflect a revision from 3 percent to 3 1/4 percent in the assumed average interest earnings rate for purposes of actuarial valuation, as of June 30, 1963.

<sup>1</sup> Based on tabulation of Treasury checks issued from regular established rolls. Totals differ from those in preceding tables, which are based on another source. Annuities under Civil Service Retirement Act are net checks issued, adjusted for health benefits deductions or Government contributions.

<sup>2</sup> Number of payees rather than number of individual annuitants, which is about 20 percent greater. For example, when a widow is paid annuity for herself and also annuities for her children, 1 check is issued rather than individual checks.
